Film-Flammers Caught Here Tried in Norwalk—Benson Fined $50 and Lowenthal Forfeits Bond.

The two men captured by Patrolman Ike Williams at the railroad station Saturday night and turned over to the South Norwalk authorities gave their names as Harry Benson of Bridgeport and Joseph Lowenthal of

New York. They were accused of working the old film-flam in changing a $20 bill when Benson palmed $10 belonging to Louis Lewis, a clothing dealer in South Norwalk. Lewis traced the men to this city and pointed them out to Patrolman Williams who placed them under arrest. They were taken back to South Norwalk.

When tried in the South Norwalk police court yesterday, Lowenthal forfeited a bond of $100 and Benson pleaded guilty to the charge of obtaining money on false pretenses and was fined $50 and costs. Although Benson claimed Bridgeport as a residence he belongs in New York, and endeavored to raise the amount of his fine there by telephone. He was unsuccessful and was locked up.
